Notes for ROBERT EDWARD OLIVER, SR.DR.:
The life of Dr.Robert Edward Oliver, who died at the age of fifty-six, on Nov.14,1938, was one of unusual devotion and the highest dignity in his chosen field of medicine and service to his beloved home community. A practitioner who gained high honors as a graduate of the University of Tennessee Medical School, he will be remembered for his highly skilled and blessed with sympathy for those who suffer. He was born on Nov.5,1882, the son of Edward Palmer and Cordelia Elizabeth (Stout) Oliver of the Newcastle Community. His great-great-grandfather, was Judge John Johnson, one of the most distinguished pioneer settlers of Eastern Arkansas since his arrival in 1824. He was remembered for securing the passage of an act creating St.Francis County. [1954 St.Francis County History]

Notes for EDWARD W. DEVEREUX:
Death of Ed Deveraux=The Times editor and numerous other friends and acquaintances of the family were shocked to learn of the untimely death of Ed Deveraux, a sterling young farmer of this county, which sad event occurred Wednesday morning, Aug.31,1910, at the home of Mr.& Mrs.George Owen on the old Mallory place, northeast of town where he had been ill for some time with typhoid fever. He married Miss Mitchell Littlefield last year, we believe, and she survives him, as does his mother, several brothers and sisters and other relatives. He was son of Mr.N.J.Deveraux, deceased, formerly a contractor and builder of this city, who is kindly remembered by many who have lived here since the early 80's. He had been working at Round Pond. The funeral took place from the Oliver home and was conducted by Rev.B.L.Wilford of the Methodist church, the remains were interred in the Hughes cemetery Wednesday afternoon. BIO - Among the best-known and successful farmers of St. Francis County is L. Small Morgan, of near Round Rock, who came to this county 31 years ago to take over the interests of his brother, J.E. Morgan. The Morgan farm, now including more than 800 acres of the rich alluvial soil of the St. Francis River Valley near Round Pond, originally was part of the old Belmorbry Farm, which was jointly owned and operated by the late J.E. Morgan and the late Mr. Belshe, who dissolved their partnership. On Jan. 10, 1923, L. Small Morgan moved to St. Francis County to join his brother and to finally purchase the entire Morgan Farm, which he still owns and operates. Mr. Morgan was born at Winona, Mississippi, the son of Edward Livingston and Lillian (Thompson) Morgan. He came to St. Francis Co. from Chicago, Illinois, after spending his boyhood days at Winona. On Dec. 25, 1933, he married Miss Katherine Devereux, daughter of Stephen Alfred and Hugh Ella (Hamilton) Devereux of the Newcastle community, and to this union has been born a daughter, Elizabeth Devereux Morgan, now a Junior in Forrest City High School. Mrs. Morgan is a member of the Delphian Club in Forrest City. The Morgans are members of the Round Pond Methodist Church. Mr. Morgan also belongs to the St. Francis County Farm Bureau. They raise cotton and soybeans other diversified crops in a progressive manner.
