He had battled cancer for several years. He was 72 years old. Born in Memphis, TN and known as "Johnny" by family and friends, he grew up in Forrest City, AR and was the oldest of three children born to Laura Louise McDaniel Bowen and John Canada Bowen, Jr. of Forrest City. John earned a B.A. in History from Yale University in 1963. It was during his senior year that he was invited by his peers to become a member of the Yale Whiffenpoofs, one of the preeminent a cappella groups in the country and one of the oldest traditions at Yale. His Whiffenpoof nickname was John "Slide Trom" Bowen. This group was invited to perform around Europe, where on one occasion they sang for Princess Grace of Monaco. He treasured the lifelong friendships he developed with his fellow Whiffs, and his love of music sustained him throughout his life. After college, John received his medical degree from Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City in 1967 and completed his residencies at the University Hospitals in Cleveland, Ohio and Case Western Reserve University. In 1969-70 during the Vietnam War, John served on a surgical research team and as a clinical surgeon in Vietnam in the medical corps of the United States Army and in 1970 received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service. Following his service overseas, he rose to the rank of Major and served in the Division of Surgery at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research. After his army service, John held a fellowship at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston, and in 1976 he joined the surgical staff at the Ochsner Clinic Foundation. While at Ochsner, he served in a number of management positions, including the Chairman of the Department of Surgery from 1993-2002. In 2012 Ochsner's medical residents honored him with the Hurst B. Hatch Teacher of the Year Award. Also in 2012, Ochsner presented him with the Spirit of Leadership Lifetime Achievement Award, and today he will be presented posthumously the Medal of Honor by the Society for Surgery of the Alimentary Tract.
