Death-19400206- Death-Thomas Oliver Fitzpatrick, pioneer resident of St. Francis Co. passed away at his home here last night, Feb.5,1940. Death closed the versatile career of 91 year old famous historian of Eastern Arkansas. His Memory and the annals of the early days which he preserved for posterity, live on. He would have been 92 in April, had been in ill health for some time. Although he was known as a historian, he had been engaged in a number of occupations, among them Circuit Clerk of Cross and St. Francis Counties, surveyor, editor of the Wittsburg Gazette, farmer and ginner, former Postmaster of Forrest City for many years. Known as "The Sage of Crowley Ridge," Mr. Fitzpatrick for years had been considered the greatest living authority on the early day history of the Ridge, and he played a major part in preserving pioneer records and events of this section. He is the author of a number of manuscripts, depicting some or the important events of pioneer life and his exactness mad him doubly valuable as an authority on history. Scores of persons trekked up the hillside to Mr. Fitzpatrick's home to obtain information about lost kin of long ago, or some personality or incident forgotten by others. Those who could not come, wrote him-many from different states-and he was always generous with his store of knowledge. In fact, he seemed to feel a keen sense of duty in passing on his wealth of knowledge and helped those who sought information. In his youth, Mr. Fitzpatrick developed an interest in events and personalities of the Ridge region and he would listen for hours to the earliest settlers, thus gaining most of his information first hand. This he supplemented with wide research. The present generation is largely indebted to Mr. Fitzpatrick for the histories of Cross and St. Francis Counties, and nearly all these histories, as well as articles pertaining to them have been written from information which he gave. It is generally conceded that he made the greatest contribution of any person in preserving happenings of the pioneer days. His unusual memory made it possible for him to relate with minute correctiveness details of lost villages, landmarks, political battles, and legal proceedings. During his recent illness, he was so anxious to answer certain inquiries regarding this section which he had that he dictated the information from his bedside. Although he was a Republican and was active in the interests of that party, he was revered by both Democrats and Republicans who admired him for the stand which he made for his convictions. He served as a member of the Republican State Committee for more than 30 years. He was a delegate from this state to the Republican convention in 1904, and an alternate delegate to Chicago in 1932. He was Forrest City postmaster for many years, beginning in the 80's and again beginning in 1905 for about eight years. Mr. Fitzpatrick always maintained an interest in political and civic affairs. Mr. Fitzpatrick was born Apr.6,1849, in Lauderdale Co., Tenn., but moved to Arkansas when he was about four years old with his parents, who settled near Vanndale. He attended the private school of Judge Byers at Covington, Tenn. He was the son of the late Permelia Hargrove and David Fitzpatrick, natives of Virginia. His ancestors were of Scotch Irish descent, came to America before the French and Indian wars from Scotland and settled in Virginia. Mr. Fitzpatrick made the trip with his parents into Arkansas in an ox cart, the method of travel in the pioneer days. He spent the early days on the farm. On his return from school, he was appointed surveyor of Cross County, which position he held, also giving his attention to teaching until 1871. He then started the Wittsburg Gazette which he continued to publish until he was elected clerk of circuit court of Cross County. He continued to serve as circuit clerk until the adoption of the new constitution of 1874, when he was again a candidate on the Republican ticket, but was defeated by a small majority. He then located in St. Francis county and embarked in farming, and also erected a steam gin. In April 1872, Mr. Fitzpatrick was united in marriage to Miss Sallie E. Eldridge, and five children were born to this union. The period from 1913 to 1928 he devoted to operating his 1853 acre farm, a plateau on top of Crowley Ridge a few miles east of Colt. At the latter date, he sold this place to the Home Investment Co. which developed it into the now famous Summersweet Orchards. For the last 11 years he had made his home in Forrest City, where he devoted much of his time to writing manuscripts and granting interviews to persons seeking information on the early history of Eastern Arkansas. He was a member of the Methodist Church at Colt. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Garnett Prewett of this city, and Mr. G. L. Landon of Milford, Illinois; one son, L. G. Fitzpatrick of Colt; nine grandchildren, Mrs. J. H. Eaton of this city; Lloyd Landon, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Eugene Landon, Bradford, Pa.; Miss Louise Landon of Bareilly, United Province, India; Robert Landon of Bradford, Pa.; Mrs. John Gibson of Memphis; Miss Charline Fitzpatrick of Colt; two great grandchildren, Dorothy Jean Gibson of Memphis, and Barbara Landon of Bradford. Death-19400624-Addison Morton Bradford, Sr., prominent attorney of Forrest City for the past score or more years, was shot and killed, almost instantly, by his son, Addison, Jr. at the Bradford home on Hwy 70, just east of the city limits, about 8:10 pm Sunday night. A coroner's inquest conducted by JP Pence J. McCutchen who held that the killing was in self defense and completely exonerated the son. Justice McCutchen who lives on the opposite side of the highway heard the shots and was the first person to reach the room where the shooting occurred. Only two witnesses were put on the stand at the inquest, Mr. McCutchen said today. They were J. R. Bradford, brother of the slain man, and Hope Lee Bradford, another son. J. R. Bradford testified that his brother, A. M., had arrived home earlier, under the influence of liquor. Hope Lee Bradford testified that his father, on entering the house went upstairs and threatened to kill his two sons with a knife. That he threw Hope Lee out of the room and slammed the door shut, that two shots were fired, and that Addison had reported to him on his re-entry into the room that his father was approaching him with an open knife, and that he grabbed a shotgun and fired twice. One load of buckshot entered from the left side of the abdomen and one from the right front side, it was reported by JP McCutchen, also, that he found a knife by the body of the slain man. News of the tragedy spread rapidly over the city, and services at the Methodist Church, of which the Bradford family are prominent members, was dismissed. Among the early arrivals were Sheriff John I. Jones and the Rev. R. S. Hayden. The family had been at church that morning for Sunday school. The mother and son remained for the church services. Addison, Jr. is a student for the ministry at SMU in Dallas, Texas. He is a graduate of FCHS, and Arkansas State College in Jonesboro. In addition to his widow, his brother, J. R., and two sons, Addison, Jr. and Hope Lee, the deceased is survived by another son, John R. (Dick) Bradford who is employed in the northwestern part of the state. Funeral services will be Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Church by Rev. R. S.

Hayden, with burial in Forrest Park cemetery. Active pallbearers are: Henry C. Baker, Louis Haven, Sr., W. W. Campbell, Ben Fogg, Ed Belshe, Ernest Sulcer, Sam Sharpe, and K. H. Kinney. Death-19400627-Clifford Ray Garrison, familiarly known to thousands of friends throughout the state as "Cliff," peacefully passed away at his home on Washington street about 5:30 pm yesterday, following a heart attack Monday. He had suffered other attacks during the past few years, but from each of the others had recovered sufficiently within a short while to actively resume his duties and his condition had not generally been known to be more serious than on other occasions, and announcement of his death was a shock to everyone. His condition was believed to have been improved following the attack,

Monday, but he had remained at home, to further recuperate. Mr. Garrison was serving his fourth term as clerk of St. Francis Co., and was expected for re-nomination for a fifth term in the Democratic primary election to be held in August. In his death, Arkansas and St. Francis County suffers a severe loss. He had been an aggressive leader in the political, civic and religious life of the city and county, and his influence was felt over the state. He was an active influential member of the Methodist Church, a member of the Board of Stewards for a number of years, and a lay leader for the past 10 or more years. He had a friendly, genial personality and was noted for his efficiency and courtesy in transacting the work of the county clerk's office. Coming into office the same year with the Roosevelt administration, he early came into close contact with the several Federal agencies and through his enthusiasm and efficient co-operation with these agencies became the "key man" of the county in securing federal aid for city and county projects. Through his initiative federal aid was secured for the construction of the auditorium and swimming pool at city park and for the first paving under CWA, and his influence was a determining factor in securing approval for practically all other federal aid projects in the city and county, including substantial sums for county roads, later street paving, and securing the sewing room project, funds for construction of Smith stadium, substantial aid for improvements to school buildings, the city library building, city hall, and other work projects in the city and county. Mr. Garrison was the past President of the Young Business Men's Club and the Rotary Club. He was active in all civic movements, and devoted much of his time and energy in behalf of the community. Immediately prior to his election to the office of county clerk he was distributor for one of the larger oil refineries, and prior to that had been for several years manager of the East Arkansas Lumber Co.. C. R. Garrison was born in Abbeville, Miss., June 26, 1886, his death occurring on this 55th birthday. He came to Arkansas about 30 years ago, and lived at Widener, and later at Palestine before moving to Forrest City. On June 9, 1909, he was united in marriage to Miss Effie Davis, at Somerville, Tenn., who survives him. He is also survived by two sons, Raymond Lee and Clifford Davis Garrison, one daughter, Miss Elva Lois Garrison; his father, George Davis Garrison of Memphis; a sister, Mrs. Annie Lee Hatchcock of Jackson, Tenn.; one brother, James J. Garrison of Jackson, Tenn.; and two grandchildren, Ray, Jr. and Clifford, Jr.. He had an exemplary Christian life, was devoted to his family and loyal to his friends. Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church this afternoon, by the Rev. R. S. Hayden, followed by interment at Forrest Park Cemetery. Active pallbearers are: H. W. Gregory, Sr., Gazzola Vaccaro, W. W. Campbell, Roy D. Campbell, Ben G. Fogg, Jack R. Porter, S. J. Dean, and Louis McDaniel. Spouse: Effie Davis Garrison (1888-1950) FAG 15603825
