The Roosevelt Cemetery is located five miles south of Pleasant Plains, Arkansas, and 20 miles north of Judsonia, Arkansas, with a Judsonia address. It is adjacent to Roosevelt Missionary Baptist Church on State Highway 157 in White County in north central Arkansas. The Roosevelt Cemetery began to be a public burial ground in 1848. It was originally known as Bagley or Bagler Cemetery, but the name evolved to Roosevelt Cemetery when a U. S. Post Office was established in 1902 to serve the Roosevelt community.

This cemetery listing was first prepared in April of 1999, from information assembled by Mrs. Averil Beaver, a Roosevelt Community resident and member at the time of the White County Historical Society. The Roosevelt Cemetery listing has been updated from time to time by Harold Beaver, Mrs. Beaver's son. "Efforts were made to be as complete as possible," Mrs. Beaver noted, "however, there are many unmarked graves that will never be identified and many others that are only marked with natural stones bearing no information. It is a beautiful, well maintained country cemetery with many old and very large trees." Due to her advancing years, declining health, and the need to be closer to family, Mrs. Beaver moved in 2005 to Fort Smith, AR, where her son lived at the time. Community members John and Janice Guinn began in 2006 providing information to assist Harold in keeping the listing up to date. Mrs. Beaver said, "I certainly enjoyed the community's support over the years in keeping the information current and will miss the regular contact with those whose loved ones are buried at the cemetery. It is, however, time that I turn these duties over to the next generation and move on."

Leroy Blair, cemetery research director for the White County Historical Society, who visited the cemetery for the first time in March 2001, made adjustments to the list again in 2007. John and Janice Guinn continued to provide update information to Harold Beaver until Mr. Guinn passed away in November of 2015. Mrs. Guinn has recently been able to return to providing update information to Mr. Beaver. Mr. Blair initially prepared the map key shown above and added Section and Row numbers to the list to aid in locating specific graves.

The following abbreviations are used in the list:

DS = double tombstone.

TS = triple tombstone.

FM = funeral home marker
